Hi Everyone!

Avian Flu Update. As of today, there have been no new cases of bird flu in the State. Being able to exhibit is still under a ban until June 8th. Fingers crossed! Bird flu has been found in Dairy Cattle, though. Therefore, I hope that all will continue to be positive news for Poultry Exhibition.

POULTRY CLINICS & Educational clinics will be held in the poultry barn at the NWMF grounds on: (rabbits too, in their barn)

These clinics are approximately two hours long, bring lawn chairs and a snack & beverage for yourself.

These clinics will satisfy the Educational Credits, if attended for the full 2 hours.

Live birds may or may not be allowed on these days. The ban hopefully will be lifted. If live birds are permitted, you may bring 1 showmanship bird you have worked with. There will be the “fake birds” to use. There will be an educational poultry kit, questions and answer

Saturday	June 8th	4:30-6:30
Sunday	June 9th	4:30-6:30
Monday	June 10th	6:30 -8:30

There may be a possible session added at a later date.

NOTE: MEAT CHICKENS have been ordered through Tractor Supply, Chum's Corners, delivery will be the week of June 10th...be ready!

Thanks,
Lynn and Gwyn
